most fascinating things in photography, was the topic of this session. In this session we learnt some important things which students need to remember while doing light photography e.g a variety of light sources can be used, ranging from simple flashlights to dedicated devices like the torch, which use a fiber optic light pen and A tripod is necessary due to the long exposure times involved. We did the theory part before moving on to the practical aspect, in theory part the students learnt portrait and landscape light photography.

In the practical the students got to know many things like how the settings can change according to the light or the type of photograph you want to take. Mr Virender told some pages and channels of some good light photographers whom which the students can look upon .The students tried and used different types of lights for the photo. They all tried different ways and the tricks told by sir. The students were given some time to think of something creative and even implement it on their own. After that, sir told the students the things which we need to take care of - collaboration is required in the performance of the work, with one person creating light figures and structures while the other operates the camera and the students were given feedback on the photos clicked by them.

LEARNING OUTCOME-This session made the students understand the scope of photography and how photography is not just carrying cameras and clicking. Photography is more than just one or two types of photographs. The students got to know that photography includes creativity; light painting which they particularly learnt in this session is just an example! The session concluding with inspiring the students to dig deeper on the subject and experimenting through innovative shots.
