TIMING: 9:00 hrs to 5:00 hrs

RESOURCE PERSONS:

1. SANDEEP.K.BISWAL
2. SHWETA CAMMA

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of the workshop was to train the teachers to start Financial education classes for school students .The idea of the program was to bring financial literacy among school students so that they can take informed financial decisions and effectively plan for various life goals without falling prey to financial frauds.

PROCEEDINGS:

A two days training program was organized by (NCFE) National Centre For Financial Education in collaboration with (CBSE) Central Board Of Secondary Education .At the end of the session , training materials were provided to teachers and all teachers received a certificate from NCFE, certifying them as “Money Smart Teacher”.

Ms. Rachna from RBI was the chief guest and inaugurated the workshop.

The session laid stress on financial literacy and its importance among school students so that the future generation is very well versed with saving, investment and the market conditions.

Mr. Sandeep.K.Biswal from NSE explained the importance of NFLAT (National Financial Literacy Assessment Test) for school students and the procedure involved in getting them registered for the same so that every school has maximum financial literate population. He also discussed on the importance of three pillars of investment- safety, growth and liquidity.

MS.Shweta Camma gave a very informative lecture on various financial inclusion schemes of Govt of India- Pradhan Mantri Jan- Dhan Yojna(PMJDY), Atal Pension Yojna(APJ), Pradhan Mantri Bima Suraksha Yojna(PMBSY)etc.

The last session laid stress on personal finance planning which helps to achieve financial goals so as to optimize the financial situation.

FEEDBACK:

Certified as a “MONEY SMART TEACHER”

Teacher from all around Delhi and NCR

Overall, it was a very informative and interactive workshop which helped me to understand the need and importance of being financial literate and to develop the same understanding among school students so that they are ready to handle the money with utmost care.
