Dear Parent,

Winter Vacations are here!!! .As we usher in the New Year 2020, a few vital suggestions are listed below to make the vacations more exciting and fruitful than ever before:

- Keep at least half an hour a day for sharing experiences with your child.
- Encourage your child to speak in English. Fix an hour in a day when you communicate with your child only in English. '
- Narrate your child short stories on a regular basis and encourage them to retell the same in their words.
- Let your child draw and colour, paint, mould and create with plasticine, play with toys and puzzles etc.

"The greatest gifts you can give your children are the roots of responsibility and the wings of independence."- Denis Waitley

- Restrict his or her television watching, or getting engaged over Mobile for long hours.
- To recapitulate the concepts done in the class, make a routine for your child and involve them in practice work every day.
- Develop self help skills: Let your child dress and feed on his/ her own. '
- Make them understand the importance of cleaning his/her room and putting away toys and belongings after use. '

Donate toys and old clothes

Encourage your child to share things with others. Nothing will teach sharing as easily as donating toys and clothes to families in need. It will be a life lesson for them that will last a life time.

Reading Books About Sharing

Books are powerful to children, because it helps them see how things look in their own world. A great activity to help cultivate a love of sharing with your children is to spend time reading them. Books will help them learn to identify what sharing looks like.

A colorful illustration of five children holding hands in a circle. The children are drawn in a simple, cartoonish style with large heads and small bodies. They are wearing various colored dresses: one with red and black stripes, one with green and black stripes, one with a green dress, one with a yellow dress featuring a red heart, and one with an orange dress featuring red hearts. The background is a blue field with white polka dots. A large, light green circle with a purple border is centered in the image, containing text. The children are positioned around the circle, with two at the top and three at the bottom.

Love is the greatest gift that one generation can leave to another.”-Richard Garnett

Grandparents and grand children share a special bonding with each other. Let your little ones spend more time with their grandparents, initiate free conversations and have story telling sessions.

The students will be asked to narrate a story in their own words, when the School reopens after the winter vacations.

Last, but not the least, all the concepts done in the class needs to be recapitulated.

Pre School Students can work upon the correct formations of letters and numbers done so far, for a better learning.

Pre Primary Students are being provided with 'Bridging the gap' worksheets for recapitulation of the concepts done. The same needs to be worked upon by the students under your constant guidance.

Looking forward to a fruitful year ahead.
