Expression India, organized “JUNIOR MINDSMART 2019- An Innovative Wellbeing Leadership Program for Peer Educators”. The workshop was conducted by Dr. Jitendra Nagpal, Program Director “Expression India” along with Ms. Priya Sharma and Ms. Jyoti Kandpal. They began the workshop by creating the groups of students from different schools. Students were provided with a chart paper, colors. The groups were given various topics such as education, disability, social media, POCSO Act, Bullying etc and were asked to express their feelings and notions about any of the topics mentioned above. In order to help the students they provided each group with a handbook containing the ideas for presenting their thoughts in the form of drawing, themes for role plays etc. All the students were very excited to express their thoughts on the paper. The students were asked to find a comfortable place in the hall, sit together in their group and complete their presentation after discussing with their team mates.

While the students were completing the task the accompanying teachers were seated in the auditorium where they were given a form to fill which contained a number of questions regarding education and ways to help the students with disability. The form also sought suggestion for the programs that can be conducted to create a positive environment and better learning for students.

All the teachers filled the form which was followed by a discussion regarding relationships of children with parents, effects of physical changes- Psychological maturation, physical maturation, social maturation and day to day problem faced by students during school hours and how can we help them. It was suggested by teachers that there should be regular interaction of students with the school counselor as children face many issues at home and in school so they need warmth and trust so that they can inform the undesirable activities going on around them.

After the discussion students were called in the auditorium and were asked about their experience that how did they felt about that activity. All the students reacted positively towards the program activity. After that all the 20 groups presented their ideas on different topics like- Beti Bachao Beti padhao, Bharat swach abhiyan, POSCO act Education, social media ,bullying etc through role play and presentations. Most of the topics were related to social media. A discussion about all these topics was held after each presentation.

The workshop was very interactive and informative. Students expressed their view through different mediums and enjoyed it a lot. There was an open ended discussion after the workshop where students shared their views. The workshop came to an end by clearing the doubts of students and filling the feedback form.
