

'World Nature Conservation Day'

REPORT ON WEBINAR

'Conservation is not merely a question of morality, but a question of our own survival' - Dalai Lama

The natural world is facing an increasing threat from human activities. To ensure the well-being of the present and future generations, we all must be responsible human beings. Keeping this in mind, under the aegis of Environmental club a webinar on 'Conservation of nature and nest making' was organised for students of classes VI-XII on Wednesday 28 July, 2021. Mr. Rakesh Khatri, a Filmmaker, an Environmentalist & Founder of the Eco Roots Foundation, 'The Nest Man of India' and the Saviour of Sparrows was the guest speaker. The one-hour nest making session helped children of Classes IV to XII to understand the importance of nature and simple steps to conserve our nature in order to increase the population of sparrows and other native birds.

Student's feedback-

- It was a wonderful session. I hope that many more sessions would be conducted in the future –Hiten Gupta (IX).
- The webinar was very informative about including all the information about nest and about the wildlife which we rarely study about or research. It got very exciting and interesting for all of us as we made the nest for birds- Navreh Kaur (X).
- I would like to thank our guest speaker Mr Rakesh Khatri to enlighten us on birds and their nests. Today's webinar gave us deep insights about the conservation of nature and interesting facts about sparrows-Ayushi Singh (IX).
- I found this webinar one of the most enjoyable and informative webinars. A special thanks to our Principal Ma'am Mrs Asha Prabhakar for organizing such an amazing session and to Mr. Rakesh Khatri for inspiring us. Looking forward to more such similar sessions-Kritika Paliwal (IX).
- The Session was informative and enlightened one and all.
