National Education Day is celebrated to mark the birth anniversary of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad. He served the country from 1947 to 1958 as the first Education Minister of the independent India. Maulana Abul Kalam Azad was not merely a scholar, but was also committed to building the nation through education. To commemorate his birth anniversary, Bal Bharati Public School, Noida conducted various activities in order to recall his contribution to the cause of education in India. Keeping in mind the current situation, we aimed at fostering the new learnings to recover and revitalise education for the generation who had been the first-hand witness of the novel pandemic. To garner the interest of learning among the children, the students of classes III-V were taught the rules of composing limericks.
