In charges: Class Teachers of Class I

Purpose: At Bal Bharati Public School, Noida, a leading CBSE institution, a series of thoughtfully designed activities were conducted, aimed at inspiring and engaging our young Class I learners. The National Education Policy (NEP) emphasizes the need for schools to embrace innovative and hands-on learning approaches that go beyond conventional classroom teaching. One such initiative is the introduction of "Bagless Days", which offer students exciting opportunities to participate in experiential activities, nurture creativity, and develop a sense of environmental responsibility.

Highlights of the Event:

1. WE THE STORYTELLERS - Tales Told with a Twist

Students enthusiastically narrated short stories of their choice, honing their skills in pronunciation, diction, and voice modulation. Through creative language use, they improved their phonological awareness and listening abilities, making the activity both educational and enjoyable.

2. Matra Magic in Action

Children used postcard-sized flashcards depicting various letters (both swar and vyanjan). Working collaboratively, they formed different words, which enhanced their eye-hand coordination and group collaboration skills. This engaging activity reinforced their understanding of different matras and provided a playful approach to learning spellings.

3. Math Quest: The Treasure Trail

Armed with a treasure map and clue cards featuring simple addition problems, students embarked on an adventurous hunt across the classroom. Divided into teams, they worked together to solve sums and uncover treasures like stickers, pencils and erasers. This thrilling activity combined teamwork with a fun way to strengthen math skills, making learning an exciting adventure!

4. Dive into Discovery: Sink or Float

Students brought a variety of objects—safety pins, wooden logs, pebbles, and plastic rulers—to test in a hands-on experiment. They observed which items sank or floated in water, starting with a lively discussion on swimming. This engaging activity ignited curiosity, fostered critical thinking, and unveiled the science behind the fascinating concept of sinking and floating.

Conclusion: The Bagless Day proved to be an outstanding success, offering students a unique opportunity to deepen their understanding of English, Hindi, Math, and EVS through engaging, hands-on activities. Beyond academics, the day nurtured crucial life skills such as teamwork, problem-solving, and self-expression. The students' vibrant enthusiasm and evident joy demonstrated the impact of immersive learning, emphasizing the value of fostering a love for education through creative and practical experiences. Bal Bharati Public School remains dedicated to embracing the NEP's vision by introducing innovative approaches that inspire and empower students, making learning both meaningful and exciting.
